Call for Papers| International Journal of Anthropology and Ethnology

March 28, 2020

It is our immense pleasure to call for article submissions for the International Journal of Anthropology and Ethnology(IJAE), ISSN: 2366-1003 (electronic).

The journal's aim is to provide an intellectual platform for international scholars in the fields of anthropology and ethnology, and to promote academic exchanges between Western and non-Western scholars.

IJAE invites research papers for its upcoming issues, in English only, in the fields of anthropology and ethnology, and concerning theory, policy and practice. We particularly seek submissions from the sub-disciplines and from interdisciplinary studies with a focus on topics related to critical global issues and the challenges people are facing all over the world.

IJAE welcomes original research papers, conference summaries, academic interviews, academic debates, research syntheses, fieldwork reports, and book reviews.

With the many sub-disciplines and research fields emerging from anthropological and ethnological research, as evidenced by the 32 scientific commissions in the IUAES (International Union of Anthropological and Ethnological Sciences), and 39 commissions in the CUAES (China Union of Anthropological and Ethnological Sciences), IJAE is committed to promoting anthropological and ethnological research from sub-disciplinary and interdisciplinary perspectives, and fostering dialogue on global/regional hot topics.
